Digital Transformation of Economic Development, Community Engagement, Education, and Governance

MACHINES COSTING JOBS IS A MYTH!

“As a society, we need to understand how to re-conceptualize education and provide more flexible and agile workforce training programs that match the skills of the digital economy. Five years from now 35% of the important workforce skills will have changed.

We need to invest in education and basic research. We need to address the mismatch between supply and demand for digital skills.

This means training people not only in technical skills like coding but also in skills that will increasingly be needed in the digital age to compliment the work of machines, creativity, teamwork and problem solving.

Digital Transformation will see robotics and artificial intelligence systems not only used to replace human tasks but also to augment their skills, for example, a surgeon's working with advanced robotics systems to perform operations which will present a challenge to businesses who will need to re-skill their workforce to work with new technology.”

From Ch. 2 of Thomas M. Siebel's DIGITAL TRANSFORMATION: Survive and Thrive in an Era of Mass Extinction (Rosetta Books 2019)

THIS IS THE OPPORTUNITY for the youth in the urban and rural communities across America who will have to compete with youth from other parts of the world, many of whom live in third world countries.

ANYONE and EVERYONE can participate in the Digital Economy.

I've been in GovTech for 16 years now but if I had to start all over from scratch ...

Here's how I'd get my first position making $70,000/yr within 3 months:

If you don't know ...
GovTech isn't like other industries. It's safer because the government is the one writing your checks. For that reason ...
They added a few extra steps to get your first job.
That's why you need to fully understand the system ...

To get a job you need a "government security clearance"
This shows that you can be trusted. Usually this is reserved for military personnel but there's a way around it...

1. Go to ClearanceJobs.com
2. Type in "ability to obtain"
3. Filter by experience

This will show you a list of entry level jobs that you can apply for.

It's not that simple though ...

You need your resume and credentials to be on point.

Thankfully thousands of people have gotten their jobs with only 2 things on their resume.

And it's less than $500 for both ...

1. CompTIA Security+ (IT/Cybersecurity)
2. Microsoft AZ-900 (IT/Cybersecurity)
3. CompTIA CySa+ (Cybersecurity)

If you get the Security+ you can get in the door for one of these jobs. If you have two to three... it's a lock.

This is where most people fail though ...

Once you know the game for the system it's all about applying to jobs.

My first 70k+ job came when I was applying to 30-40 jobs per day.

You can't just apply to a few jobs and think you're going to get lucky.

Earn that job.

I would spend 2-3 months getting my certifications and learning...

And the rest of my time applying.

These companies do a lot of on the job training so I wouldn't be stressed about knowing everything from day one. Just be confident and have a good foundation.

Base salaries for these positions start around $55,000 but I aim for positions starting at $70,000.

The requirements aren't too different...

It's all a numbers game. Apply more.

If I Did it All Again to Make $70,000 yr. in 3 months!

1. Pursue GovTech – Government Technology
2. Need Government Security Clearance
 - Shows You Can Be TRUSTED
3. Go to ClearanceJobs.com
 - Type 'ABILITY to OBTAIN'
 - Filter by 'Experience'
 - This will show you entry level jobs that you can apply for
4. Resume needs to be on point
5. Credentials need to be on point
 - One Credential gets you in the door
 - Two Credentials and you are a lock
6. Spend 2 to 3 months learning and earning credentials
7. Don't stress on knowing everything on day 1
 - Be a good, positive person that people will want as a teammate
 - Be coachable
 - Learn on Your Own and Always Learn More
 - Show Gracious Professionalism
 - Competitive but Cooperative #Coopetition
